- As she heads to pick up her lunch she notices that one of the drink machines is out of ice so she opens the Food Fighters app to report the outage so other customers and the restaurant staff are notified

- After picking up her lunch order she schedules her dinner to be delivered to her because she has a meeting with investors to possibly expand her business, so she won't have time to come to time to get food.

- She returns to her business with her lunch and her dinner pre ordered with the exactly right amount of nutrients that she needs for optimum performance.

Phil W

Ryan Evans

Phil finished his homework at the library and decided he wanted to go get some food

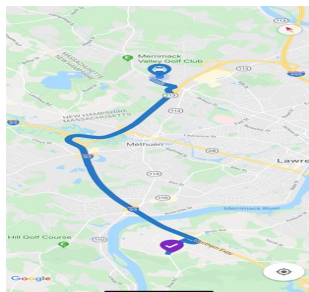

Using the Food Fighters app he began checking his wide range of options on his campus

Using the Food Fighters app he was able to see that place where he wanted to eat was to far away to walk to, but he was able to use the delivery option.

Now everyone is happy thanks to Food Fighters

John K

Palmer Kirven

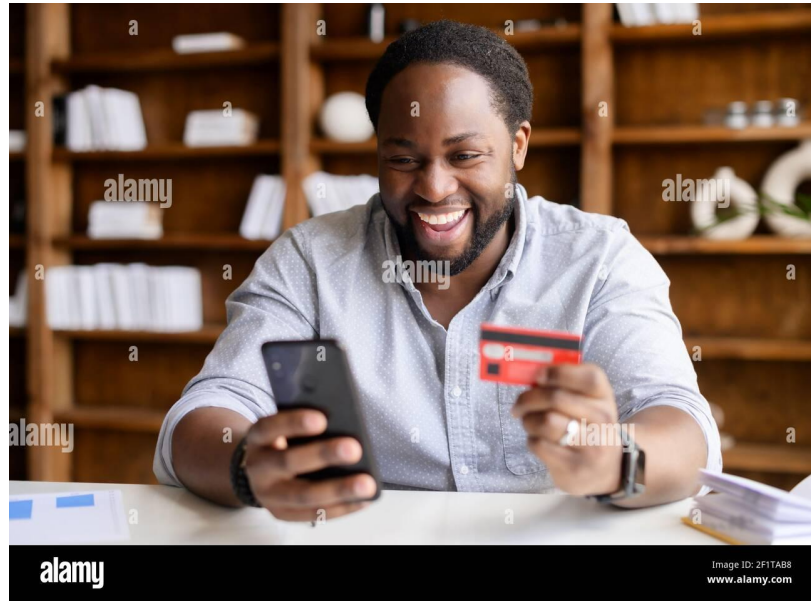

John K. ends his work and school day coming home to 2 hungry kids and a stressed out wife. The last things John wants to do is go out to pick up food, especially being prime dinner hours. He needs to find food quick or else the family will throw a tantrum.

John remembers he downloaded an app called Food Fighter, where he could easily see all the options around him. He calmed his kids down and picked up his phone to browse.

John the app and searches a few of his go to places to see their wait times and delivery options. His top restaurant, Chick-fil-A, has an insanely backed up order queue. His kids are craving a nuggets while the wife is craving chick sandwich so it crunch time to get food on the table.

John sees the Food Fighter app recommended alternatives based on similar menus, which gave John the perfect family dinner delivery option that would be quick and delicious. Popeyes had a very similar chicken sandwich review score of 4 out of 5 stars. Instead of making his family wait long for what they were craving, John utilized the recommendations from the Food Fighter app to get dinner quick

After John returned home, him and his family enjoyed their delicious Popeyes. No more angry kids screaming and no time wasted in line. Him and his family are now, happy. John goes on to leave a positive review about his experience using the Food Fighters app.

Liam Meyer

By Son Phan

Liam Meyer has just attended his first class of the day. After a long and stressful class he heads out the door and opens the Food Fighters App

Once opening the app he sees available restaurants and dining halls that are currently open as well as any vending machine and water fountains. He decides to go to Chick-Fil-A.

Church's Chicken

Chick Fil A

Gibbes Court Bistro

Bojangles

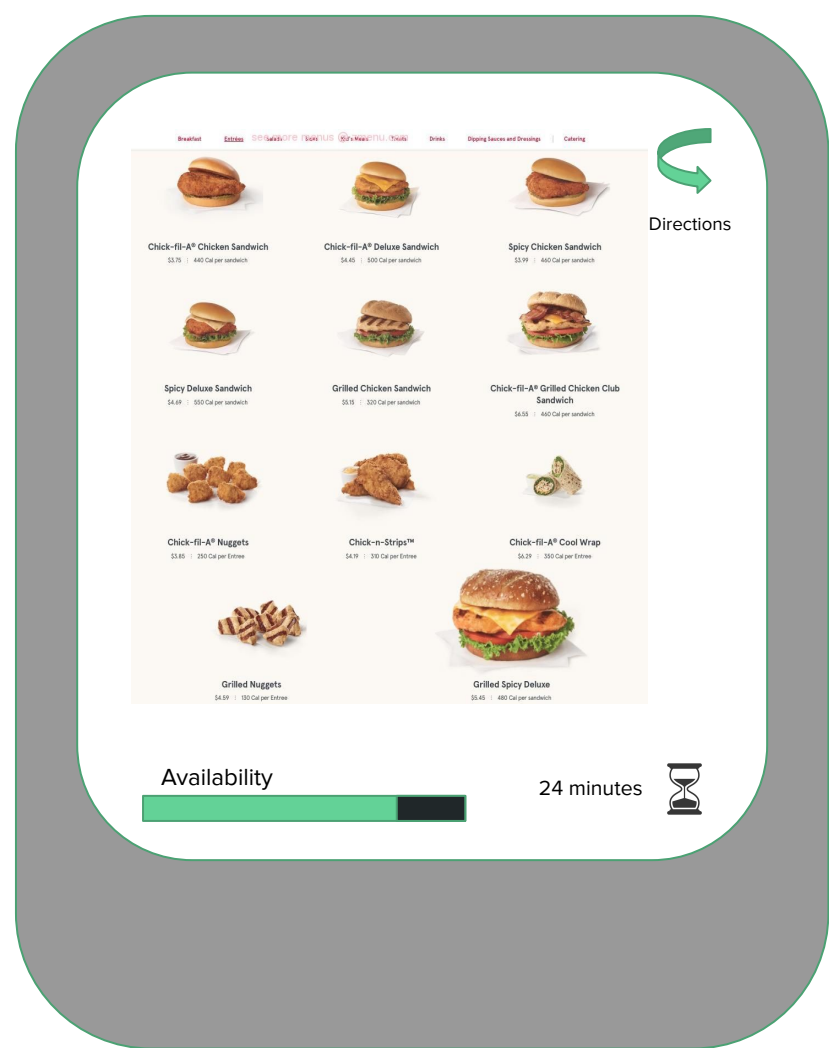

Vending Machines

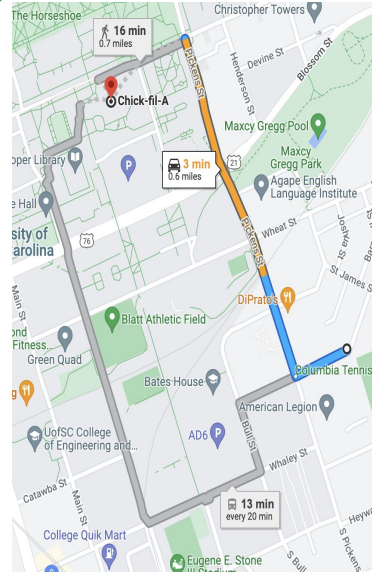

Water Fountains

Upon deciding his desired restaurant, it will prompt available entrees and meals and a bar on their available inventory. At the bottom, it will show a current wait time depending on how many orders are currently placed at chick fil a. Normally Liam would place an order for delivery but this chick fil a doesn't have that option.

After he decides that he wants mac and cheese, he proceeds to click the directions button and begins walking there

Once Liam arrives, he can place his desired order at the restaurant and have good conscious that there'll be no delays and it fits his schedule

Freddy T

Sean Nary

It's been an extremely long day, Fred just finished editing and uploading his daily chicken tender review to his YouTube channel and his stomach is starting to grumble. He needs chicken, and he needs it fast.

Fred goes on to Food Fighters, an app he recently downloaded after hearing of its top tier food recommendations. He begins to view the various options available to him.

Fred notices multiple dining halls on campus are serving chicken tenders today. He knows which hall serves the best tenders, but he can see by checking on Food Fighters that the dining hall is packed! On top of this, his second favorite dining hall is all out of chicken tenders!

Fred realizes that the Food Fighters app provides him with all the information he needs to make the right decision! He notices that one of the dining halls is at low capacity, and their chicken tenders have a 4 out of 5 star review! Rather than waste time walking to his favorite dining halls (that won't satisfy his needs), he utilizes the Food Fighters app to make the best decision!

Fred can now happily enjoy his chicken tenders. No time wasted walking to crowded dining halls, no time wasted finding a place that serves his needs, now he is in his happy place. Fred goes on to record a review for his YouTube channel in absolute serenity. Peace, at last.
